Urgent winter appeal
Every two minutes, someone in Cambridge sits down to a meal from us.
Can you provide the next one?

260,000 meals

That's the number of meals Cambridge City Foodbank has provided in the past 12 months to people in our city.

We believe that nobody should need to use a food bank, and we're working hard to make that future possible.

That's why, when people turn to us in their time of need, they don't just leave with food for today. They leave with hope for a better tomorrow.

The on-site advice and wider support we provide helps people to find a way forward.

And we simply cannot do this without your support.

Food today, hope for tomorrow. And this Christmas, that gift can come from you.

£25 could provide three days of emergency food for a household struggling to afford the essentials.

£40 could provide nutritious food, household essentials, and a month of expert support for a local family.

£100 could fund 3 months of Fairbite Food Club membership for a local family, providing food for today and support towards a brighter tomorrow.
